much writing about 19th century east africa has been distorted by the legacy of post enlightenment thought as well as by more insidious racist ideologies humanitarian lobbies throughout western europe strongly influenced by positivist ideas and campaigning to highlight the ravages of the slave trade condemned africa in their writings and propaganda to the periphery outside universal history africa was reduced to a continent of slavery in which the market entrepreneurship and free wage labour could not exist these ideas penetrated scholarly works and still survive in some guises the consequence is that a variety of initiatives and forms of labour organization associated with the long distance trades in ivory and imported cloth have been overlooked by scholars while the slave paradigm received widespread attention utilizing the conceptual tool of crew culture rockel documents a large scale african migrant labour system nyamwezi caravan porters from the interior as well as coastal zanzibaris and waungwana forged a unique way of life in which market values and experience of wage labour and the caravan safari combined with customary standards and notions of honour derived from innovative reconceptualizations of tradition the safari experience commercial change and interactions with peasant and pastoral communities along the trade routes all contributed to the emergence of a unique east africa modernity this book can be read on a variety of levels it is a journey a labour history a story of african initiative and adaptation to modernity and a contribution to a history of tanzania and east africa that gives due attention to intersocietal linkages and networks rockel utilizes a variety of methodologies and theoretical approaches derived from neo marxist and postcolonial perspectives as well as africanist innovations in oral historiography and labour and gender studies drawing on such insights carriers of culture develops and expands our understanding of the way workers invent new and unique cultures to make sense of and control the labour process create support networks including collective leisure activities maximize and protect economic interests and manage the labour market the book is clearly written and is illustrated with late 19th century photographs and artwork

although the asia pacific region occupies a prominent place in geopolitical thinking little is available to readers concerning the resistant communities and cultures of pacific and asian peoples this book fills that gap by documenting the efforts of diverse indigenous cultures to claim and reimagine asia pacific as a space for their own cultural production by presenting essays poems and memoirs by prominent asia pacific writers that resist appropriation by transnational capitalism through the articulation of autonomous local identities and counter histories of place and community in addition cultural critics spanning several locations and disciplines deconstruct representations particularly those on film and in novels that perpetuate asia pacific as a realm of euroamerican fantasy this collection offers a new perception of the asia pacific region by presenting the pacific not as a paradise or vast emptiness but as a place where living struggling peoples have constructed contemporary identities out of a long history of hegemony and resistance back cover
